We are in the midst of a year-long acceleration in the decline of battery cell prices, a trend that is reminiscent of recent solar cell price reductions. Since last summer, lithium battery cell pricing has plummeted by approximately 50%, according to Contemporary Amperex Technology Co. Limited (CATL), the world's largest battery manufacturer.

However, large-scale energy storage installations are anticipated to maintain a stellar performance. TrendForce predicts that new installations of large-scale energy storage in the United States could reach 11.6GW/38.2GWh. Forecasts on Energy Storage Installations for 2024 in the U.S.

Excessive inventory posed a significant challenge for the European residential battery storage market in 2023. According to EESA statistics, new installations in Europe's residential battery storage sector amounted to 5.1GWh in the first half of 2023, indicating that the 5.2GWh inventory accumulated by the end of 2022 had been depleted.
